

A scatter plot with blue circular data points on a white background. A vertical blue line is drawn at approximately x=50. The data points are distributed across the plot, with a higher density around the vertical line. There are approximately 35 data points in total.

